THE FINDING

In the Case of Speidel vs. Brilliant Tube Works is

IN FAVOR OF WHEELINGITES.

Who Have Fought the Cause Persevered by Messrs. Hackett and Jackson, Officials of the Company which Purchased the Works—Finding in Favor of Wheeling Title and Trust Company and Bank of Wheeling, are First and Second Liens.

Yesterday at Steubenville, court orders were entered that are of great interest to Wheeling people. Those in the case of the Brilliant Tube and Pipe Works arise out of a difficulty between Messrs. Jackson and Hackett, officials of the Brilliant, and some of the Wheeling stockholders, including Mr. Joseph Speidel and others.

The title of the suit was Joseph Speidel et al., vs. the Brilliant Tube and Pipe Works, et al. The orders entered yesterday are to the following effect, and are a victory for the Wheeling litigants:

Finding and decree in favor of the receiver and order of appraisal and sale granted.

Finding in favor of the Wheeling Title and Trust Company on its mortgage for $44,355.22, first lien.

Finding in favor of the Bank of Wheeling, $16,455, second lien.

Finding in favor of Totten & Hogg, $313.08, third lien.

George Dean, W. W. McClinton and W. H. Rodgers are appointed appraisers.

The receiver is authorized to bring suit against Messrs. Hackett and Jackson.

The attorneys in the case were Messrs. W. P. Hubbard, Dunbar, Kitchart and Sweeney, for Speidel, et al., and Messrs. Cook, McClure, Lewis, Gregg and Duncan for the Brilliant corporation.

Another order of almost equal interest to Wheeling people was that in the case of S. N. McClinton vs. the Jefferson Iron Works. The order is that the receiver shall proceed to dispose of all personal property and wind up the business.

BOTH FASTORS ARRESTED

The Macedonia Church Troubles are Far From Being Settled—Last Night's Sensational Proceedings.

When Weyer has conquered the Cuban insurgents, possibly the troubles in the Macedonia Baptist church will be at an end. The colored brethren have a hard nut to crack, and hearings in two justice shops last night and the incarceration in the county jail of the rival pastors, Rev. Mr. Elliott and Rev. Mr. Johnson, have done nothing to heal the breach.

The crowds of people in the region of "Lawyer's Row" last night, and the excited debates among the male and female members of the congregation, were the outcome of the latest phase of a dispute that has stirred the colored population of the Second ward from the Market house to the classic hillside beyond.

The services Sunday were productive of two trials. The first was before Squire Dunning, and Rev. Mr. Elliott, upon the complaint of Rev. Mr. Johnson, was fined $5 and costs, for assault. Upon motion of the defense, the attorney, Mr. J. J. Conniff, the fine was increased to $10 and costs, so an appeal could be taken to a higher court. The other trial was before Squire Fitzpatrick, and was continued until this evening. Mr. Elliott was the complainant, and Mr. Johnson and five members of the church were defendants, to a charge of disturbing worship.

The details of the trouble are familiar to Intelligencer readers. As is known, part of the congregation want Mr. Elliott as pastor, and part want Mr. Johnson to act in the same capacity. The latter has retained possession for several weeks, having the majority of the members at his back, and having secured the keys of the church by a clever ruse. Sunday morning as Mr. Johnson opened the Bible to preach Mr. Elliott, it is alleged, walked up to the pulpit, pushed Mr. Johnson to one side, seized the Bible and proceeded to expound the gospel. Mr. Johnson then took his seat in the body of the church.

In the evening Mr. Elliott failed to show up, and Mr. Johnson resumed business at the old stand. Objection was taken to Mr. Elliott's course, and yesterday morning Constable Calverne Gray arrested him, and as the preacher failed to give bond he remained in the jail all day. His trial at night produced very amusing testimony on both sides of the fence. Mr. John O. Pendleton prosecuted, and Mr. Conniff defended. The court room was packed with spectators, and the street in front was impassable.

At the conclusion of this hearing, at the instance of Mr. Elliott, Squire Fitzpatrick's constable, John Anderson, served warrants upon the following, the charge being disturbing religious worship: William Calverne, Langstonberry, Merinda Jones, Jennie Dolaberry and Rev. J. H. Johnson. The warrant for Samson Dolaberry was not served, he being sick in bed.

The arrest of these and their subsequent march through the streets to Squire Fitzpatrick's court caused considerable attention, and the antics of Merinda Jones were exciting in no mean degree. After a short sojourn they were again marched to the county jail, where Col. Arnett and Mr. Conniff argued a little of the case before the justice, regarding the matter of bond.

The rival preachers gazed at each other without speaking during the session in the jail, and outside on the street friends and relatives of those arrested waited anxiously for their release.

It was 11 o'clock before the arrangements were completed for the trial this evening. Difficulty was encountered in securing bond. Col. Arnett stood good for Merinda Jones, his cook, because, as he said, he "wanted his biscuits this morning, and Merinda is a splendid cook." It took considerable hustling to secure bondsmen for the others, and the last brother to file out of the corridors was Rev. Mr. Johnson, who breathed the free air shortly after midnight.

This evening's trial may not conclude the performances, as threats were made last night of more suits to follow.
